HOMESICK

- 35 -

It was snowing that night.

With the sudden snowstorm, patients started flowing into the emergency room.
It was impossible to get off work.

We finally relaxed after all the patients fell asleep.
Elizabeth?

Oh I see. Sorry
There were just so many patients all of a sudden.
Yeah. It's snowing a lot
You're not sick anywhere right?
Just wait a little bit longer until the expected date.

Alright. I'll be home tomorrow. Okay.
I love you too.
Good night.

Elizabeth?
Did you forget to say something?

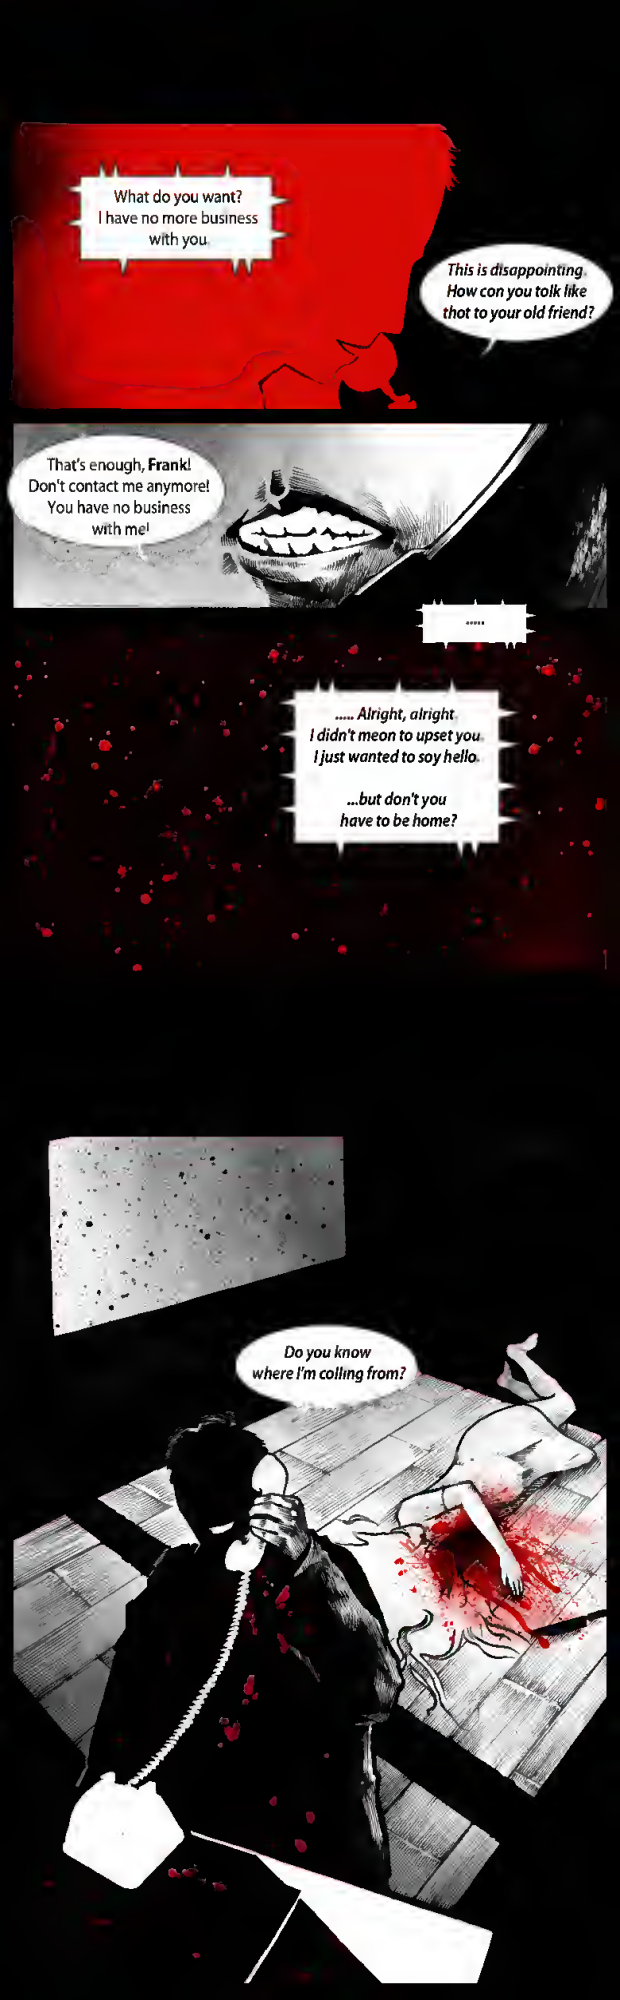
I've been looking for you
You hid yourself very well,
Professor Fronkenstein
Who the hell are you?
Come on. You're not that stupid are you? You already know who I am
How did you find me?
It's easy to hide your name, but not your skills
Also, you should've been more careful when you announced the research we did together
The <Minimizing Organ Transplant Rejective Behavior Research>
You're indeed brilliant
It's a good title, but not as good as the name I came up with



What do you want? I have no more business with you.
This is disappointing. How con you talk like thot to your old friend?
That's enough, Frank! Don't contact me anymore! You have no business with me!
..... Alright, alright. I didn't meon to upset you. I just wanted to soy hello.
...but don't you have to be home?
Do you know where I'm colling from?
